

Development influence of selected observations against matched ordinary deletions

Change in the common fixed LightGBM contrast relative to the block baseline; all test observations stay intact. Each dot is one of twenty matched ordinary deletion draws. The comparison is descriptive: the draws do not equalise deleted design weight, and the percentages are not p values.